

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

5 A shared printer monitoring unit monitors whether there is a change in shared printer which has been set as a shared printer from a client or not on the basis of shared printer information in a storing unit. If the shared printer monitoring unit detects deletion of any shared printer, a notifying unit notifies the client that the shared printer has been deleted. A burden on a network administrator who manages the shared printers is reduced.